THE ABOVE REQUEST IS HEARD DAILY in cigar stores, saloons and other places where cigars are sold, for it is an undisputed fact that most smokers orefer a mild cigar, and that those who have for a long time smoked strong cigars, principally imported Havanas, will, after having thoroughly injured the stomach and impaired the nervous system, surely want a mild cigar, it they could find the right kind.

It is a fact that not all mild cigars agree well with smokers, for in most cases there is a lack of care in the selection of the tobacco, and often the necessary experience for it is wanting, yet there is one brand which suits the most fastidious smoker, and that is

The only industry hitherto operated at this Prison has been the quarrying of granite and shaping it for use in the construction of buildings, docks, walls, sidewalks, street-crossings roadways, inclosures, and, for memorial purposes. Since last July the operation of this in dustry has been practically discontinued. The sale of curbing for sidewalks and slabs for street crossings was stopped after 60 days notice to the purchaser, and the prisoners, except those required to complete the order for the Stone Dry Dock, have been employed in the work of shaping granite blocks for the construction of walls for the prison yard, and for an addition to the irritation to support her statements. injurious to free labor.

At the close of the reading of the substitute, Director Sonntag said: "What do you propose to do? I can't see that this covers the ground at all, or is in any way a substitute for that which i have submitted to the Board. It is more of a 'treatise' on the substitute for the Board. It is more of a 'treatise' on the substitute for the submitted to the Board. It is more of a 'treatise' on the submitted to the Board. It is more of a 'treatise' on the submitted to the submi to the Board. It is more of a 'treatise' on the question at issue than anything else. What do you propose to do about the mat-ter? The people of the State are anxious to know what relief we propose to give Director Devlin, who occupied the chair aid the substitute was in order; but as the Director Hendricks-You ask, "What are we going to do about it? know exactly what we can do. We certainly cannot throw away all of the machinery we have, and which has cost the State many thousands of dollars. We will do the best we can to comply with the law and conduct only those branches of labor which will in the least degree conflict with free labor. He doubted the Board's au-thority to destroy property of the State in this manner, and thought it was against public policy.

Director Sonntag read Section 21 of the compiled laws, relative to prison regula-tion, under which he claimed the Directors had tull power to act in the premises, and they could at any time discontinue any branch of prison labor, except where a contract was not filled. The Constitution also gave the Board of Prison Directors full power. He also read the enabling Act of the Legislature of 1880, which covered the same objections. He was in favor of discontinuing all such prison labors, and was willing to take the responsibility of such

Director Hendricks-Well, if you feel like throwing away buildings and machinery, I do not, and shall object.

Director Sonntag—The only machinery orking in the shops for at least a year and a thrown out of use is that used in the map ufacture of furniture, worth perhaps $10,000 or $12 000, and we can realize something upon that. The buildings can be turned into a jute factory.

Director Wilkins-I don't know about that. To put jute machinery in those buildings would necessitate the employment of additional engineers at a cost of Director Hendricks-There are two ob place we don't know how soon this business will be competitive with free labor. To a limited extent it now comes in compe tition with free white labor. In the second place you are teaching the prison inmates trades which they cannot utilize after the expiration of their terms.

Director Sonntag—Do you propos teach criminals trades so that when they get out they can compete with others who never had an opportunity of learning a Director Hendricks-Most assuredly I do. It is, and should be, the prominent feature in prison discipline to teach all the inmates trades, educate them up to a point neces sary to enable them to begin life anew and become what they should be, good critizens. As Prison Directors I think this is one of the sacred duties that devolve upon us. Director Sonntag—In Europe young men have to pay to learn trades. Here men who commit crime shall learn trades, whether they desire it or not. You propose to put the criminal above the free man.

Director Hendricks—What is the object and in so doing to deter others from comnitting crime Director Hendricks-I was always of the opinion that they were intended for the protection of society and the reformation of Director Boggs-Come, gentlemen, you are digressing. Let us get down to the business before the meeting. So far as the manufacture of granite is concerned at manufacture of granite is concerned at the Folsom Prison, I am decidedly in favor ent contracts are filled. I am opposed to the further manufacture or sale of granite goods from this quarry. I believe the entire Board is in favor of stopping the Folsom works, so I therefore move that we divide

Mr. Sonntag's motion, and act first upon that portion which relates entirely to the Director Devlin—The question before the Board is not Mr. Sonntag's motion, but the substitute offered by Mr. Hendricks, Director Sonntag raised the point of order that "Mr. Hendrick's treatise" was not in order, was not germain to the subject natter of the original motion.

ite should cease to be manufactured for sale The Chair ruled the point of order raised by Director Sonntag not well taken.

Director Sonntag rather excitedly said that if necessary he would move to lay the whole matter upon the table, but he did not like to do so.

Director Hendricks—The Legislature, although this mater was properly presented to them, failed to take action, and now I want this Board to go on record as to what they will do. He was opposed to dodging the issue by voting for Director Boggs' motion. Let us meet this matter squarely and place ourselves upon record, whether it is popular or not. He had drawn the substitute as expressive of his position upon this question. He wanted to be un-derstcod and desired to vote upon this substitute, or upon the original resolution, as offered by Director Sonntag.

Offered by Director Sonnag.

Director Boggs—I don't see much in your substitute. Why do you want such a long preamble? What is a preamble for, understand it.

Director Boggs—Thank you.

Director Wilkins—If permitted to get a word in edgeways, I would like to be heard for a moment. We will never get along in this manner. Let us have a full, which a possible claim could be based would become either corrupt or halting any "no warrant, nor in usage, for such and timid, and it would be exceedingly difficult to formulate a law, which might be filled with an one enture of any of the second control and timid, and it would be exceedingly difficult to formulate a law, which might be filled with an one enture of a meaning of Director Boggs withdrew his motion, which left Mr. Hendricks' substitute before Director Wilkins called for the reading of the substitute, and at its close remarked, of principles that we should adopt. Let us express a fixed conviction of principle. Director Wilkins—I believe in some of the things in the substitute and do not in others. I cannot indorse it as a whole. Director Devlin said the hour was growing late and nothing was being accomplished. As Chairman, he desired to give arrived, in a municipal election about to all the widest latitude in discussion. He believed in many of the things contained in Mr. Hendricks' resolution. He suggested that Mr. Sonntag withdraw temporarily his resolution, and let the Board in favor of a low license, or a repeal of all adopt so much as they desired of the document presented by Mr. Hendricks as a declaration of principles, and then take up Mr. Sonntag's motion and adopt what they like of it Mr. Hendricks' resolution was great many citizens entirely satisfied with simply an expression of principle and be-lief. It decided nothing.

Director Sonntag withdrew his resolution temporarily, and moved that the substitute offered by Mr. Hendricks be referred to Messrs. Devlin and Wilkins, who were instructed to draw and submit a declaration high license and with the course of the of principles within fifteen minutes. This motion carried, and at 1 o'clock A. M. the Board took the recess and the committee went to work. Within the time tions were held on the same evening, but specified they submitted the fellowing:

specified they submitted the following:

As the subject of convict labor has been widely agitated in this State, and the Board having fully investigated the subject, deems it proper to place its conclusions on record.

Resolved, by the Board, that it shall be governed by the following principles:

First—All convicts must perform so much work as they are capable of performing each day in some useful labor. This is necessary for their mental and physical condition, for the promotion of discipline and as a penalty that they owe to society for an infraction of the law and the expense to which they have put the State.

Second—That they should be worked in such branches of labor as will not compete with free labor.

Third -That their labor while in prison should be of such a character as to reform them and to get them to lead honest lives when discharged. At the conclusion of its reading Mr. Hendricks moved to strike out "State tle as possible with free labor.' He said there was no labor performed at the prison that would not conflict with some person. This is a World of conflict and we cannot possibly avoid it. Director Boggs said he was firmly convinced that it was impossible to perform any labor that would not in some manner competing with free labor. He was in favor of striking out the entire section. He was not in favor of pandering to the Knights of Labor. They are getting a little too suggestive. They want to tell us what we must and must not do; how we shall live and breathe. I am not opposed to giving them all the rights of their organization and all the protection they should have, but when they go beyond that I am opposed to them.

The motion of Mr. Boggs to strike it all out was lost, he only voting in the affirma-

The motion of Mr. Hendricks was then adopted by the following vote: Ayes—Wilkins, Hendricks, Boggs. Noes—Sonntag and Devlin Director Wilkins said this amendment nullified the intent of the resolution, there-fore he moved to lay the entire matter upon the table, which was carried. Director Sonntag then renewed his resolutions, given in full above.

Director Wilkins moved to amend them by making the closing down time at San to be a bedridden invalid. The violent Quentin September 1st, instead of July 1st, pain kept her awake almost every night.

It was carried-Director Sonntag recording his vote no; all the others aye. Director Boggs moved to except all unfinished contracts at the Folsom prison, which included one monument and the steps for a church in San Francisco. This carried by the same vote as the last.

insisted on getting up, and by the third week was entirely well and able to attend The resolution, as amended, was then adopted as a whole by the following vote: Ayes—Wilkins, Sonntag, Devlin, Boggs No—Hendricks. Director Hendricks explained his vote. He did not believe the Board was justified in assuming the responsibility of undoing what the State had done. Board went into executive session for the purpose of passing a resolution limiting the living expenses of the Wardens to $100 per month, and the appointing of an expert to examine their books, both of which objects were accomplished.

The Board adjourned to meet at San Quentin, at 9 A. M., on Monday, April 4th.

THE SMALL-POX INVASION.

Its Progress in Los Angeles County-Steps Taken to Suppress It. Dr. G. G. Tyrrell, Secretary of the State Board of Health, returned vesterday from the lower portion of the State, to which he and other members of the Board-went recently to inquire into the real facts as to the extent to which the small-pox had extended there. It was ascertained that there had been 45 cases and 9 deaths at Los Angeles. up to Saturday forenoon; South Pasadena, 7 cases and 1 death; Downey, 8 cases; Florence, 1; Ravenna, 1; Carothers, 1; Green Meadows, 1—all in Los Angeles unty. At Ontario, San Bernardin there have been two cases. The disease i is serious and needs careful watching. The State Board, divided Los Angeles into six districts, appointing a vaccinator for each, and the probabilities are that the disease will in time be suppressed; but there danger as long as there are any unvacciare concealed cases, of which no re-port has been given, and the spreading of the disease is largely attributable to this fact. The railroad company has co-operated heartily with the members of the Board of Health in their efforts to control the disease. The Board appointed two inspectors at Colton, one of whom will be in charge of trains running to Barstow, while the other will go to Indio. There was matter of the original motion.

Before the Chair made a ruling upon this point of order, Director Boggs moved as a substitute for the whole matter that "grantite should cease to be manufactured for sale.

At the instance of the Board Surgeon-Gentile should cease to be manufactured for sale. eral J. B. Hamilton, of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service, has appointed officers to act as inspectors at Yuma, Nogales, Ben-son and Albuquerque. The members of the Board feel that they have done all that is possible to protect the State from the threatened pestilence, and, though the disease still prevails in the neighborhood in which it originated, it will probably, under the energetic measures now being taken, soon cease. While the State Board's visit was not received exactly in good part by many of the Los Angeles people and officials, as well as a portion of the press, the Mayor and some others treated the visiting physicians with great kindness and consideration.

HIGH LICENSE AT THE BAY. Its Kesults in Alameda, and its Adoption in Oakland. The several San Francisco papers give the following concerning the progress of high license at the Bay:

Nearly a year ago the Alameda Board of "I cannot see as that settles anything."

Trustees increased the retail liquor license from $60 per annum to $200. The liquor thing by resolutions. This is a declaration sellers, of whom there were some sixtynine, fought the increase most determin-edly. They formed a league, refused to obedience to the law, but nursed what they considered their grievances until a propi-tious time for revenge. This time has now it. These issued a call for all who were similarly minded to attend a public meet-Trustees, called a non-partisan meeting for the same evening, at the Park Opera House. neither under the auspices of either of the old party.

At the special meeting of the Oakland City Council called for the purpose of considering the license ordinance and the ordinance making it a misdemeanor to dispose of interception. of intoxicating liquors to minors, all the members of the Council and the Mayor were present, and the lobby was crowded with spectators.

The ordinance making it a misdemeanor to sell or give away intoxicating liquor to any minor under sixteen years of age, was called for final passage and adopted by a unanimous vote

The ordinance fixing liquor licenses at $100 a quarter for dealers doing a business of $1,500 a quarter, or less, was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Barker, an amend-favor of the ordinance to impose the high license said that Oakland was infested with deadfalls and it had come to such a pass that if a man attempted to interfere with them they undertook to hound him out of politics as they had done in his case. In the Fifth Ward, which he represented, there were seventeen saloons, and of these only three or four were respectable. There was one from which drunken women might be seen coming out in broad daylight, and it was not safe for a decent woman to pass the place for fear of insult. He knew the sons of four or five of the best citizens in his ward who had been absolutely ruined by these deadfalls. These people had got so bold in Oakland that they attempted to dictate who should fill this office or that

The present license is $25 per quarter. There are 274 saloons licensed, and the revenue is $27,400 per year. It is estimated that the increased tax will reduce the number of saloons about 25 per cent. Under FRIDAY..... the new ordinance, however, the revenue of the city from this source will be increased to $82,200 a year.

A WAR LECTURE.

A Private Soldier's Experiences in the War of the Rebellion. R. T. Booth, who has been conducting the temperance mission here, lectured at the Metropolitan Theater Saturday evening on "War Reminiscences." He had a good with pathe ic recital, or fervent apostrophe, he turns like a flash to the ludicrous, and and from the hight of exalted emotion lets the auditor fall to the depths of bald witticism, and he comes down with a sudden-ness that, while he is bound to laugh and acknowledge the skill of the orator in anti-climax, makes one feel as if he'd like to walk over the footlights and physically protest against such transitions. Mr. Booth spoke for nearly two hours and held his audience in closest attention. George W. Ficks, of Fair Oaks Post, G. A. R., presided, and introduced the speaker as a soldier who served gallantly in the war of the Rebellion on the Union side as a private. He was the first war lecturer, he said, whom he had met who had acknowedged

Then came the dismal watch of the night, the distance of the street o etersburg, and finally the surrendering of Lee at Appomattox, the union in hand-grasp of "gray" and "blue," the march to Washington and peace, closing with a magnifient tribute to Grant and to the restored

SOCIAL PURITY.

The Metropolitan Crowded Last Night to The Hear the Temperance Lecture. Yesterday afternoon at the Metropolitan Theater R. T. Mr. Booth handled his delilate his hearers to a purer and more manly life. It was wholesome talk, such as would elevate all who would profit by it.

In the evening probably more people were at gospel services in Sacramento than in years before. The theater was thronged, seats and standing room, three-quarters of an hour before the time of service, and the handledge who were turned a way filled to an hour before the time of strvice, and the hundreds who were turned away filled to overflowing all of the down-town churches which were open, as were all the churches of the city. The choir opened as usual with song; Rev. Mr. Merrill read the scriptures, and Rev. Mr. Filben made the opening prayer. Mr. Booth, in opening, announced that

THE MEETING OF MONDAY NIGHT and responsive audience. Mr. Booth is an easy speaker, fluent in language, strong in voice and dramatic in his methods. His best style is in narrative. He tells a story capitally. At times in pathetic passages he moved the audience deeply, and rose to a plane of impassioned eloquence. He is witty and humorous. In some respects he is exasperating; that is, after exciting the sympathies deeply, stirring the very soul with pathetic recital, or fervent apostrophe, he turns like a flash to the ludicrous, and ber of blue ribbons worn on the streets; there were upwards of 1,800 taken, and he was pleased to see them so generally worn.

Proceeding to his address, he said:
"Prevention is better than cure, it is better vastly to form the mind than to reform the men. In New Zealand they are so infested with venomous snakes that the Government provides colored charts of these rep-tiles, with the antidotes for their bites, and they may be found on every wall, and chil-dren from the cradle know the snakes of the land. Yet while seventy are destroyed by drink for every one destroyed by the e of a snake, that Government does absolutely nothing to protect its citizens from this. I am glad that in a little while there is to be a text-book in the hand of every he had met who had acknowedged that he was only a private. We cannot give any synopsis of the lecture, since it was a rapid-running narrative of the war excitement in the East narrative of the war excitement in the East does not include this.

There was caustic wit, keen analysis of motives, warm and generous tributes to the bravery and manliness of the rebel soldiers, and lofty apostrophes to the heroes of the Union arms. There were no words of bitterness or reproach, but no concealments of issues for which the soldiers battled. He began with the bombardment of Fort Sumter, and led up to his own enlistment in 1862, in the One Hundred and Eleventh New York Volunteers, along with his father and two brothers. He took the hearer with him to Harper's Ferry, paid a warm tribute to John Brown in passing, detailed the surrender of his regiment at Harper's Ferry, the transfer to Chicago on parole, the release three months after, and Harper's Ferry, the transfer to Chicago on parole, the release three months after, and the return to service. He was in winter camp on the field of Bull Run, engaged in burying the bones of the Union dead. Then came the invasion of Pennsylvania by Lee, and the march of the Unionists to the relief of Reynolds at Gettysburg. The description of that forced march was graphic and thrilling. After a sketch—beautiful in word-painting and vivid in depiction of a night scene before the battle—he came to the great contest at Gettysburg. The story of the charge of the rebels down to the Emmettsburg road was full of dramatic interest, and the auditors were

Last night when I heard you tell your story I was and had been all my life an infidel, and had done all I could to scatter the seeds of infidelity, but after hearing your statement that you never argued with any one as to Almighty God, I went from the place and fell on my knees and asked God, if there was God, to pardon my sins, and light came, and I spent all the night burn-ing my infidel books.' As I read the letter a gray and trembling man had risen, facing that audience of thousands, and cried, 'l' am that man.' This is the power of God the power of his gospel. I now come to you in this work because I believe that THE GOSPEL APPEALS TO YOUR BEST SENTI-

In this city Saturday morning, John Norton, recently convicted of buying and receiving stolen property, knowing the same to have been stolen—he having purchased the gold bur from Henderson—was called up to receive sentence. His counsel made a motion in arrest of judgment and for a new trial but the Court overruled it. Clunie Opera House. This evening at the Clunic Opera House a series of dramatic entertainments, to last range: during the week, will be inaugurated by Joseph R. Grismer and Miss Phoebe Davies, supported by their competent company. Mortimer Murdock's thrilling melodrama, "A Hoop of Gold" which has been presented by the combination at San Francisco and elsewhere with great success, will be put on to-night, and also Tuesday and Wednesday nights, and should fill the house for each performance. The artists leading the company have always received a hearty reception in Sacramento, where their talent is well known, as is also the fact that they never slight their work, but render it in an earnest and painstaking manner, showing their desire to at all times keep faith with the public; and as this is their farewell California tour, as they in-

A gentleman named Mespelt, who has had experience in the East, was selected to act as umpire, and though apparently a little "rusty," performed the duties quite well, though he was unfortunate in having an unusual number of close decisions to make, and could not, of course, hope to render them all setisfacts.

course, hope to render them all satisfactorily. The Altas went to the bat first, and before Mullee got warmed up six of them tallied. This gave them over-confidence. Barry pitched well for the home club dur-ing the first inning, and tolerably well in the second, but he should not have gone into the box for the third, as his arm had again given out; as it was, the Damianas made two runs in the second inning, and four in the third, when Barry realized that it was useless to struggle against fate longer, and relinquished his position to Borchers, from whom in the next seven innings the visitors only got three hits. The Altas did not make any runs from the first inning until the eighth, at the commencement of which the score stood 9 to 6 against them. White, who had been unlucky at the bat, made a two-base hit, which Robertson followed by driving the ball to the right-fielder, who didn't seem to want it, and before it could be sent back into the diamond from the pond of water way down in right field, White and Robertson were smiling pleasantly on the right side of the home plate. Borchers and Barry were put out, and McLaughlin failed to hit the ball in three strikes, but managed to reach first. He got to second on a general point of the matter was then continued and the matter was the passed ball, stole third, and advanced about one-third of the way home while Hilbert was making two abortive efforts to hit.

The next time the ball was pitched McLaughlin made a dash for home, the chances being a dozen to one against his making it, but it happened that Creegan failed to catch the ball that time, and a great shout went up over the neat play by

Dear Sir—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact, all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltiof dollars to you in this city and Balti-more alone, and make thousands of sober more alone, and make should men by inducing the use of your bitters J. Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appe-tite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R.
